

Antonio Rami

COO & Co-Founder at Kantox

Majorca (Spain), 10th September 1986

Antonio (Toni) Rami is the co-founder and Chief Operating Officer (COO) of Kantox, the foreign exchange specialist company headquartered in London. Toni founded Kantox in 2011 with Philippe Gelis and John Carbajal.

Toni specialises in corporate finance and was educated at ESADE Business and Law School, Barcelona, and at Singapore Management University where he completed his bachelor's and Master's degrees.

He began his career working for Inveready Technology Investment Group analysing investment opportunities in the biotech sector. Before founding Kantox he was a strategy & operations consultant at Deloitte, working with different companies and in various sectors. As Kantox co-founder and COO, he has won a string of awards for contributions to entrepreneurship and finance, including industry prizes from Adigital, FICOD, ESADE, and Deloitte.

He is regularly mentioned as one of Spain's leading young entrepreneurs and was featured in the leading Spanish entrepreneur magazine, "Emprendedores", in the 2015 list of influential young businesspersons, "30 under 30". In 2016, Toni was recognised as one of The Economic Leaders for Tomorrow by Choiseul 100 Spain.

Kantox's goal is to instigate sweeping change through leading the fintech sector in innovative solutions, ultimately driving development in the wider finance industry. Kantox already serves 2,000 corporate clients across Europe 3 billion dollars have already been exchanged on its marketplace.

CONTACT DETAILS:

E-mail: antonio.rami@kantox.com

Twitter: @Toni_Rami

LinkedIn: <https://es.linkedin.com/in/antoniorami>